Dietary restrictions for cultural or religious reasons:

French cuisine has been declared "world intangible heritage by" UNESCO. It is based on a variety of fresh, seasonal ingredients that include meat (including pork and poultry), shellfish, (non-pasteurized) dairy products, soy, nuts and alcohol.

Please be aware that during this program, and especially during a restaurant internship, you will be expected to work with recipes that may contain these food items.

I have read and understand the above statement and agree to abide by its terms while I am participating in the short program.
